DIGITAL STREET ART

SCREENING OF VIDEO ART PORTRAITS

During walks and nighttime meetings, Judith projects these portrait creations into public spaces, transforming the city and its walls into a poetic setting where artists, residents and passers-by meet.

YESTERDAY, URBAN SPIRITS shook up street art. URBAN SPIRITS is an innovative digital street art creation imagined by the artist Judith Darmont. In 2011, this award-winning project has already invested in several international metropolises such as Paris,, Hong Kong, Lyon, Brussels, etc. Its global dimension allows it to connect cities, cultures and artists across the world, creating a living cartography of the hybridization between art, the city and humans.

URBAN SPIRITS REVEALS ITSELF WITH DANCERS

TODAY, URBAN SPIRITS opens a new chapter: DANCERS of all ages, genders, and backgrounds become the living spirits of the city. Urban space is transformed into a poetic theatre where movement embodies human diversity.

The public is in direct contact with Judith and participates live in the experience within the city, but also via streaming on social media and in augmented reality, thus exploring new temporalities and interactions. More than a tool, technology becomes a vector of connection that links people through art and dance. An ambitious creation, URBAN SPIRITS reinvents our relationship to the city, to dance, and to art.

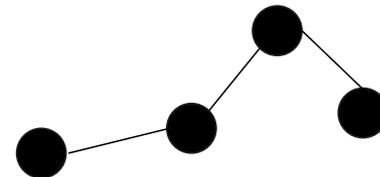

DANCER IN THE STREET

THE 6 STEPS

MEETING

#1

Judith meets dancers and choreographers from all backgrounds in each city to capture their gestures and energies.

#2

Each dancer becomes video art: movement, light and sound revealing their uniqueness.

PROJECTION

#3

At night, Judith projects portraits of the dancers and transforms the city into a shared artistic and poetic moment.gé.

LIVE BROADCAST

#4

The screenings are broadcast live on social media, providing global accessibility to the experience.

AUGMENTED REALITY

#5

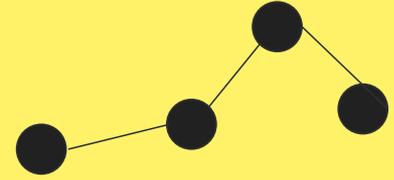

URBAN SPIRITS come alive at any moment, on smartphones. The city becomes a permanent gallery, preserving the memory of creation, right at your fingertips.

LIVING MEMORY

#6

A YouTube channel broadcasts excerpts, behind-the-scenes footage, interviews, and a documentary series, ensuring the sustainability and global dissemination of the project.

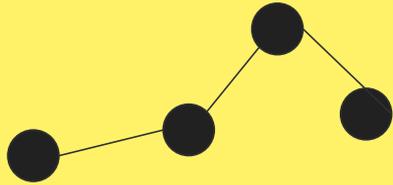

PRODUCTION AND HYBRIDATION

Our wish is to connect with cultural actors in cities and with French Institutes, which play a key role in supporting French artists internationally.

Residency in cities is essential : it allows you to meet local dancers, create video portraits with them and identify the urban spaces most suitable for nighttime projections.

COMMITMENTS AND CREATION

RESIDENCIES AND CREATION FOR EACH CITY

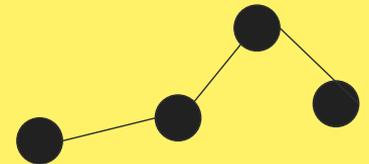

- Produce 10 portraits of dancers.
- To give international visibility to an innovative French creation.
- To place the French Institutes at the heart of a project connecting local artists, residents, and passersby.
- Promoting cultural diversity through encounters with dancers from different cities...
- A hybrid creation blending art, dance, digital technology, and urban space.
- Intimate and participatory screenings, close to the audience.

Minimum 15 day residency : Site-specific creation of video art by 10 dancers.
Presentation : Creation of a performance piece in the city.

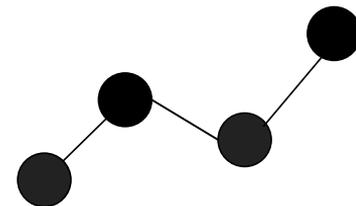

A pioneer of digital art, Judith Darmont is revolutionizing urban art in the digital age by transforming cities into interactive canvases where art transcends walls to merge with augmented reality. A visionary artist on the international scene, she creates immersive worlds that captivate clubs and festivals as well as the most prestigious luxury brands during their private events.

His flagship creations, Urban Spirits and BABEL, embody this new urban poetry, where monumental projections and smartphone applications offer the public a direct encounter with art. At the intersection of art, technology, and urban planning, the artist opens up a new field of cultural exchanges and practices, where every street becomes a gallery and every passerby a spectator of an artistic revolution in progress.
